DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1, 2, 5-11, 14-37 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Wilson et al. USPN 4701170.

With regard to claims 1-3, 5-11 and 14-37, Wilson discloses a diaper comprising a topsheet, a backsheet joined with the topsheet, an absorbent core positioned between the topsheet and backsheet having side and waist edges, side panels in the first and second waist regions. The second waist region has a side panel with a fixed end joined to the absorbent article and a free end extending laterally outwardly therefrom (Figure 17). Wilson further comprises a fastening system (see Figure 17) for joining a portion of a 1st and 2nd waist regions. The fastening system includes an inboard portion and outboard portion, the inboard portion located laterally inboard of the outboard portion and are hingedly connected. A portion of the proximal edge of the tab not joined to the side panel of the diaper so that the proximal portion of the tab member is free to lift away from the side panel of the diaper so that when the fastening system is fastened, the proximal portion of the tab member overlaps the outboard portion of the slot member and the distal edge of the tab member overlaps the inboard portion of the slot member(see Figure 18).

As to claim 4, the ultrasonic bonding limitation is directed to a process of making the article. "Even though product-by-process claims are limited by and defined by the process, determination of patentability is based on the product itself. The patentability of a product does not depend on its method of production. If the product in the product-by-process claim is the same as or obvious from a product of the prior art, the claim is unpatentable even though the prior product was made by a different process." In re Thorpe, 777 F.2d 695, 698, 227 USPQ 964, 966 (Fed. Cir. 1985) (citations omitted). MPEP 2113.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

5. Claims 12, 13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Wilson 4701170. Wilson does not specifically disclose adhesives or an array of hooks on the fastener portions. However, Wilson discloses the fastener can be any fastening means known in the art. It would have been an obvious matter of design choice to use adhesives or hooks in the fastener apparatus, since applicant has not disclosed that those embodiments solves any stated problem or is for any particular purpose and it appears that the invention would perform equally well with snaps or a slot fastener.

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Jacqueline F Stephens whose telephone number is (703) 308-8320. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday-Friday 9:00-5:30.
